

The Architects' Journal
the home of British architecture

AJ SMALL PROJECTS AWARDS 2010

KNOTT ARCHITECTS are pleased to announce that their project in Bryanstone Road, London, is among the 24 shortlisted projects for the Architects Journal Small Projects Awards 2010.

Links - www.architectsjournal.co.uk/small-projects-2010/
www.interfaceflor.co.uk
www.knottarchitects.co.uk/domestic26a.html

Small Projects is AJ's annual search for the best architecture built for a project value of less than £250,000. This year's competition is sponsored by InterfaceFLOR in Northburgh Street, Clerkenwell.

Selected from more than 150 entries, all 24 projects demonstrate resourceful use of space and materials and creative, inventive solutions to a wide variety of architectural challenges spanning the demands of retail, domestic, educational, cultural and natural situations.

Knott Architects' brief for Bryanstone Road was to enlarge a family space in a London terrace, without compromising the garden, and to connect the interior and exterior.

